

Compliance

Responsibility in connection with laws and regulations

At EXCON, compliance and integrity are a matter of course, and one of the pillars of sustainable success. Our most important standards of conduct include reliable partnerships, compliance with the law and maintenance of fair competition.

These standards are not only incumbent upon all those who act in the name of EXCON, but also serve as permanent points of reference to guide us.

We regard the purpose of our compliance management as reducing risks to a minimum and increasing both effectiveness and efficiency. In addition, we strive to enhance workflows and processes within the company, thus avoiding risks which could endanger the confidence and trust of our clients, business partners and the public in EXCON.

Our philosophy presupposes honest, honourable and, last but not least, compliant conduct – at all times.
